Concept

What we look for.
In the middle of looking for the variety of living,
we may be conscious of our strong ties with nature.
When we walk through the forest in a northern island,
there are various worlds spread out there.

As for being various, it has bright colors,
signs of fresh life, tones in silence,
eternity in changeableness,
and all the things should be tied with various things.

We are looking for such “places of the life” mixed with nature.
